ALLEANZA STAR ALLIANCE

STAR ALLIANCE

Lufthansa fa parte dell'alleanza di compagnie aeree STAR ALLIANCE.

Star Alliance è la più grande alleanza globale di compagnie aeree del mondo. Ha sede a Francoforte ed è guidata da Mark Schwab, che ne è l'amministratore delegato.

L'alleanza venne fondata nel 1997 dalle compagnie United Airlines, Lufthansa, Air Canada, Scandinavian Airlines e Thai Airways International. Ad oggi ne comprende 26 che sono, oltre a quelle già citate, Adria Airways, Aegean Airlines, Air China, Air India, Air New Zealand, All Nippon Airways, Asiana Airlines, Austrian Airlines, Avianca, Brussels Airlines, Copa Airlines, Croatia Airlines, EgyptAir, Ethiopian Airlines, EVA Air, LOT Polish Airlines, Shenzhen Airlines, Singapore Airlines, South African Airways, Swiss International Air Lines, TAP Portugal e Turkish Airlines.

Nel 2015 è entrata a far parte dell'alleanza Avianca Brazil, come membro affiliato di Avianca.

Star Alliance ha una flotta di :
4.456 aerei
21.100 partenze giornaliere
377.321 dipendenti.

Trasporta ogni anno 637,62 milioni di passeggeri servendo 1.269 aeroporti in 192 paesi.

Nel 2013 fu votata come seconda migliore alleanza tra compagnie aeree dallo Skytrax World Airlines Award.

Lufthansa, è la principale compagnia aerea tedesca e settima compagnia aerea del mondo (prima in Europa, seguita dalla compagnia di bandiera britannica British Airways) per passeggeri per chilometro trasportati nel 2014 secondo la IATA.

Oltre che ad esserne membro fondatore, Lufthansa è attualmente il pilastro della Star Alliance, alleanza tra compagnie aeree.

Lufthansa detiene:

Lufthansa Cargo

Swiss International Air Lines

La sua filiale Lufthansa Regional controlla:

Augsburg Airways

Lufthansa CityLine

Eurowings

Air Dolomiti

Brussels Airlines

Il gruppo Lufthansa possiede:

- una flotta di oltre 340 aerei
- circa 117.000 persone in tutto il mondo
- hub principale Francoforte sul Meno
- hub importanti come gli aeroporti di: Monaco di Baviera e Zurigo

The Lufthansa Group has participated in three strategically and commercially important joint ventures: the A++ transatlantic joint venture with United Airlines and Air Canada, the J+ bilateral Europe/Japan joint venture with All Nippon Airways (ANA) and the commercial Europe - Southeast Asia and Southwest Pacific with Singapore Airlines.

The A++ transatlantic joint venture

Lufthansa Group

AIR CANADA

UNITED

The A++ multilateral, transatlantic joint venture exists between Lufthansa – together with Austrian Airlines, SWISS and Brussels Airlines – Air Canada and the new United Airlines (UA with CO). A++ emerged from previous bilateral joint ventures between Lufthansa and United Airlines and Air Canada, respectively. It covers all of the airlines' North Atlantic routes and associated connecting flights. A++ offers

Strong cooperation enhances our offer to passengers

The Lufthansa Group's Atlantic Joint Venture with Air Canada and United offers passengers even more choice and value on North Atlantic routes:

- over 10,000 daily flights to more than 570 destinations
- 16 hubs in Europe and North America
- more than 300,000 seats each week
- wide choice of onboard products and services
- access to more than 60 exclusive lounges
- reciprocal frequent flyer programmes
- combinable fares
- optimised schedules

Atlantic Joint Venture

The J+ Europe/Japan joint venture

Lufthansa Group

This joint venture between Lufthansa and ANA, Japan's largest airline, was launched in early 2012. Austrian Airlines and SWISS joined the strategic joint venture in April 2013. The cooperation covers all 196 weekly flights on 11 of the participating airlines' routes between Japan and Europe

SWISS

With ANA to Japan

The EU-Japan Joint Venture between All Nippon Airways (ANA), Lufthansa and SWISS covers a strategically important traffic region and offers passengers a variety of benefits:

- Great flexibility thanks to combinable fares and coordinated timetables
- Excellent connections via Frankfurt, Munich, Zurich and Tokyo to/from important destinations in Europe and Japan
- Lufthansa and ANA direct flights with the Boeing 787 and the Boeing 747-8 (LH) to Tokyo Haneda Airport, close to the city centre
- Various direct flights from Brussels, Dusseldorf, London and Paris to Tokyo, Nagoya and Osaka

The Europe-China joint venture

Lufthansa Group

With signing a joint venture with Air China in September 2016, the Lufthansa Group is consistently moving forward with its strategy for Asia. This joint venture with the national flag carrier of the People's Republic of China is of particular significance as it considerably strengthens the presence of Lufthansa Group Airlines in the world's second most important air traffic market. As well as Lufthansa and Air China, the agreement also extends to Lufthansa's subsidiaries, Austrian Airlines and Swiss International Airlines. This intensified cooperation kicks off as part of the 2017 summer flight schedule.

The commercial Europe - Southeast Asia and Southwest Pacific joint venture

Lufthansa Group

SINGAPORE AIRLINES

The new commercial joint venture the Lufthansa Group and Singapore Airlines (SIA) signed back in November 2015 is bearing its first fruit. Collaboration partners Lufthansa, Singapore Airlines (SIA) and Swiss International Air Lines (Swiss) are expanding their codeshare agreements.

Lufthansa and Swiss customers can benefit from new codeshares with Singapore Airlines on further routes in Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific.

Singapore Airlines customers can now make the most of more than 20 codeshare routes via the Lufthansa Group's Munich and Zurich hubs to travel comfortably and conveniently to and from various destinations within Europe.

The Lufthansa Group – the leading group of European quality carriers

- Together Austrian Airlines, Brussels Airlines, Eurowings, Lufthansa and SWISS carry more than 100 million passengers a year
- We offer ideal connections around the world
- Together we offer our customers the best possible combination of all travel options
- By harmonising schedules and having joint airport facilities, we create a seamless travel experience for our customers
- Our attractive customer programmes provide added value

Our fleet – large, modern and designed to be sustainable

With over 600 aircraft we maintain one of the world's largest and most modern group fleets.

We invest continuously in modernising our fleet. By 2025, more than 200 new aircraft will have been brought into service, including 59 ultramodern Boeing 777-9X and Airbus A350-900 long-haul aircraft. The focus here is on greater passenger comfort as well as lower fuel consumption and reduced noise emissions.

With the Airbus A320neo and the Bombardier C Series, the Lufthansa Group operates two of the most efficient and quietest types of aircraft on short and medium-haul routes.
